

sidewall that opposes the given sidewall, the additional sidewall being configured to receive a button member.

20. The wristwatch device defined in claim 16, wherein the conductive peripheral sidewalls include first and second additional sidewalls configured to receive a wrist strap, and the given sidewall connects the first additional sidewall to the second additional sidewall.

* * * * *